By Associated Press.

DETROIT, Mich., July 9.—The biennial convention of the International Longshoremen, Marine and Transport Workers association today adopted resolutions in sympathy with Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone, and voting $200 toward the defense. #### HOME IS EXTENDING FIELD

The Nature of the Crittenton Work to Be Made Known in All Parts of the Territory

At a recent meeting of the board of managers of the Florence Crittenton home it was decided to extend the opportunity of assisting in the support of the institution to the various towns and camps of the territory, says the Republican.

A field representative it was decided to have, and Miss Broadbrooks, the worthy lady who has for ten years served as matron of the home, was elected to engage in this important work in behalf of the home.

Mrs. Kern, a capable Christian lady of large experience, was engaged recently to assist the matron and to have charge during the absence of Miss Broadbrooks; which will now be a large portion of the time, as no part of Arizona is to be overlooked.

Not only will she endeavor to secure funds for the maintenance of the institution, but she will strive to acquaint the public with the work of the home in all its phases.

Having been fourteen years doing rescue work, ten in Phoenix and four in Buffalo, N. Y., she knows whereof she speaks, so will be able to present the needs, purposes and results of the work clearly.

So broad and far-reaching is the work of the home here, being not only a rescue home but a shelter for friendless and destitute women, girls and children as well, that nearly every person in the territory would consider it a privilege to contribute, according to his means, if the great good that this institution is so quietly doing were only better understood.

Miss Broadbrooks will spend next week in Globe, where the management expects substantial assistance will be rendered this worthy institution.

Calf Has Dog's Head

The oddest freak animal born in Vermont in many years has appeared in the barnyard of H. L. Jones of this village. It is a calf which seems to be half bovine and half bull terrier dog.

The hybrid has the coat, color, body and hoofs of a calf, but its ears are cropped short, its tail is "screwed," and its lower jaw is undershot. The nose is wrinkled and its lower teeth are exactly like those of a dog. The animal wags its tail after the manner of a terrier, and has a habit of sniffing like one.

The day the calf was born it was taken from its mother, a fine cow of two years, and brought up on a bottle because its teeth made it unsafe for it to obtain its nourishment in the natural way. It is a healthy specimen, and up to the present time it has thrived and grown.

Hundreds of folks have called to see the oddity and Mr. Jones has been offered a considerable sum for it in case he can bring it to the weaning stage.—Woodstock, Vt., dispatch to New York World.

Rejects Man at Altar

Harry Williams and Miss Marie Teureau, a winsome brunette, were standing before a clergyman for the purpose of being married today, when it was found that Williams had made a mistake in the spelling of Miss Teureau's name in the marriage license.

Williams took the certificate to the clerk of the court for correction. Miss Teureau was chagrined at the interruption of the wedding, and believing it to be an omen of ill luck, exercised a woman's privilege and changed her mind. When Williams returned she told him she had decided not to become his wife, but the wife of James Strothers, who had been his rival. Strothers made no mistake in his license and tonight is a happy bridegroom.—Shreveport, La., dispatch to New York World.
